1. On November 1, 1974 the Board of Trustees minutes report the gift of this hangar by John M. Galbraith. The building has been in use as an aircraft hangar on Galbraith's Darby Dan Farm for about 25 years.
2. In October 1974 the building was disassembled by Department of Aviation personnel and transported to Don Scott Field.
3. The bunding was re-erected at Don Scott Field by Department of Aviation personnel, and expanded from 60' x 80' to 120' x 80'.
4. As of November 19, 1975 the floor slab had been poured and the vertical steel members had been erected. Work on re-erection started in the summer of 1975.
5. The roofing contract was let in mid-October 1976.
6. The building was ready for occupancy by the week of November 22, 1976.
7. The lean-to office which was on one side of the building at Darby Dan Farm is not being re-erected. It is expected, however, that all the space between this building and the adjacent hangar to the east will be enclosed at some later date.
